Background to Edition 4.0

Since the inception of NOVA CRT training, and the commensurate teams that emerged, NOVA has presented hundreds of CRT training seminars and deployed literally thousands of individuals in teams to various communities in crisis in the aftermath of mass murders, serial murders, hostage-takings, floods, earthquakes, hurricanes, airplane and train crashes and so forth.

The CRT Manual was originally written as a training guide for individuals and communities interested in responding to crisis. This edition preserves the core content in the NOVA processes and protocols while representing input from many generous experts regularly applying these principles in the field.
