

OPERATION FOXHOLE

Founded by military families, Operation Foxhole strives to create a military culture without domestic violence/intimate partner violence through education and advocacy; empowering military families and ensuring their safety on the homefront.

Our Founder Jennifer Gibbs experienced military domestic violence as an Active Duty and Veteran spouse. Throughout her journey of reporting, surviving, and thriving, she faced numerous barriers within the military and community resources. Jennifer and Operation Foxhole have joined forces with the National Organization for Victim's Assistance -NOVA to bring awareness to those on the frontlines assisting our military families, and ensure safety on the homefront.
